To honor the sacredness of the body and because of our belief that the body will be raised incorruptible, the Christian tradition, has been to bury and memorialize the faithful departed by honoring the body with interment in the sacred ground of a Catholic cemetery, or other cemeteries established for the burial/interment of human remains. For more information go to www.catholicnh.org/cemeteries to locate one near you. Also, at the front entrance we have flyers with more information.

CREATION CORNER: This weekend's readings contain both good and bad news: Daniel and Jesus both warn of coming "distress" and "tribulation," but both promise blessings for "those who lead the many to justice" (Daniel) and that God "will send out the angels and gather his elect" (Jesus). With both men the Jews wonder when this will come to pass. Jesus says "But of that day or hour, no one knows." His answer is to watch for signs in nature, such as when the fig tree prepares to sprout. Nature has been sending us some urgent messages lately. May we pay attention and "lead the many to justice"!
